Dear Prime Minister,

Ellinor Guttorm Utsi is a Sámi Indigenous leader working tirelessly to protect her community's ancient reindeerherding way of life in northern Norway. In 2023, several hundred wind turbines were suddenly proposed directly on their summer grazing lands in Čorgaš, threatening to damage grazing land, break migration routes and destroy their culture. Despite fierce opposition, the authorities are rushing approvals.

I urge you to protect the rights of the Sámi reindeer herding communities by ensuring that industrial wind power projects that threaten their lands and way of life do not proceed without the free, prior and informed consent of the affected Sámi people.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Prime Minister,

Mother Nature Cambodia has courageously defended the Cambodian environment since 2013. But since 2016, the authorities have repeatedly targeted the group with arrests and prosecution, for nothing more than protecting the environment and exercising their right to freedom of expression. In June 2024, six members of the group were sentenced to between six and eight years in prison. One member fled Cambodia to continue their work, but the remaining five activists are enduring harsh conditions in prisons that are not compliant with international human rights standards.

I call on you to immediately and unconditionally release the five detained activists and quash all convictions against Mother Nature Cambodia activists. Nobody should face prison simply for protecting the planet.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Gideon Sa'ar,

I urge you to halt the imminent forced eviction of Saleh Diab and his family from their home in Sheikh Jarrah, East Jerusalem. Diab, a father of five, has long resisted evictions and faced violence without protection.

After the District Court rejected his appeal, the Supreme Court is their last legal recourse. If evicted, 23 people, including seven children, will lose their home. This case reflects Israel's broader efforts to expand illegal settlements and displace Palestinians. Such evictions violate international law and may constitute war crimes. Please ensure the family's protection and end these displacements.

Yours sincerely,
